HAMMOND & CO. BY PATRICK GRANT AW 16

The AW16 Hammond and Co. collection by Patrick Grant offers a true gentleman's attire. Fusing Savile Rowe tailoring with a contemporary take on wardrobe staples the range offers casual to sartorial elegance from Harrington jackets to three piece suiting. New for Autumn Winter 16, Hammond and Co. loungewear and underwear range means you can still look the cat's pyjamas into the twilight hours.

Casual staples for the season see mac's become quilted, a hooded green bonded style with gold metal detail and trim fit and the classic navy blazer reintroduced as a wool double-cloth jersey with grey Prince of Wales check lining. Harrington styles offer a timeless transitional piece with collegiate stripe trim at the neck and waist line to give a modern sportswear feel.

Heavier outerwear from peacoats, over coats and Epsom's in palettes ranging from heather greens, military greys, and navy sit alongside camel which is introduced for the season in the steamlined Epsom.

Knitwear in a vibrant range of jewel tones from V-necks and crews are ideal for layering. Texture adds interest to the boxy roll neck emerald green knit. And, a classic vintage piece is revived with the ski jumper, the ultimate statement piece.

Accessories and leather goods with premium finishes and constructions give the finishing touches. Canvas has been introduced to bags, adding a new dimension to the range and cashmere scarves in navy and camel feature for the first time in the best selling menswear and mens' accessories collection.
